CAMBRIDGE WINS FROM OXFORD

Easily Distances Its Opponent in the Annual Contest at Putney.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.) London, April 2.—Cambridge rounded out a phenomenal record of superiority in athletic sports by the easiest possible victory in the university boat race at Putney. Oxford had choice of positions, but one station was as good as the other. The Oxford crew was in excellent condition and made one or two spirited spurts but, notwithstanding its superiority, style, and form, was outclassed by Cambridge. Oxford was beaten from the outset and Cambridge might easily have lengthened the lead at the close, but was satisfied with six lengths. Cambridge rowed with remarkable steadiness and there was abundance of leg power behind the long stroke. There were two more Etonian oars on the Cambridge boat than in the Oxford boat and a much heavier and more experienced crew.

LOOSE FINGER WHILE AT WORK

Engineer Harrison Met with a Painful Accident While Repairing Engine.

On account of some one setting the air brake on his train Cornelius Harrison, a passenger engineer on the St. Paul road, is minus about half of his little finger on the right hand. At Walworth one of the wheels on one of the coaches had a flat spot on its face and Harrison was trying to find it. He was feeling along its surface with his hand and had his little finger between the brake shoe and the wheel when some one in the train tried the air. The brake set instantly and Mr. Harrison's finger was caught between the shoe and the face of the wheel and smashed flat.

Finger Caught
He could not release his finger and it was held there until some one heard him call out and had the brake released.

Came to City
He brought his train to this city where another engineer was secured and he went to Dr. Joe Whiting's office for treatment. The finger was so badly crushed that it had to be amputated between the first and second joints. It was a peculiar accident and may no happen again in years.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.) London, April 2.—In the course of a discussion of the Irish development grant in the house of commons today the Irish secretary, Mr. Wyndham, in moving that $925,000 be granted annually for development purposes in Ireland, said a genuine industrial revival was taking place in that country, and added he was authorized to announce that Lord Iveagh of Dublin and Alderman Pirie of Belfast were prepared, in a spirit of patriotism and in view of the happier conditions prevailing, to provide the capital necessary for developing the transport facilities of the country. This they proposed to do without going to the public for help.

Mr. Wyndham concluded with saying: "There has been nothing so hopeful, patriotic and businesslike in Ireland since the eighteenth century." The motion was adopted.

TIRED OF HIS NEGRESS WIFE

A French Merchant Makes a Funny Request of a French Court.

Paris, April 2.—M. Nabarro, a French merchant, asked Paris civil courts yesterday to annul his marriage with a negress, whom he married in the state of Louisiana. Nabarro claimed that marriages between whites and negroes were forbidden by the American law, and as his marriage was null in the United States, therefore it must be null in France. The judge excited some hilarity by asking, "Why do you ask for a divorce? You knew your wife was black when you married her, and you knew the law." Judgment will be given next week.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.) Berlin, April 2.—Germany's new meat exclusion law, which went into effect this morning, leaves the Chicago packing industries' trade in the fatherland for the first time in its history on the verge of ruin. The trainmen apparently are satisfied with the matter being adjusted without resorting to a strike.

CANADA IS TO BAR CIGARETTES

The House of Commons Votes to Prohibit Their Importation and Sale.

Ottawa, Ont., April 2.—The women reformers of Canada had a great moral victory in the commons today in the adoption of a motion, declaring the prohibition of the importation, manufacture and sale of cigarettes in Canada. Premier Sir Wilfrid Laurier was among the defeated. After two motions were declared carried, Sir Wilfrid laughingly said in reply to a jocular remark from the opposite side: "What will I do about it? I shall have to give up smoking for the rest of my life." Sir Wilfrid never smokes.

The latter price has not yet gone into force but it is expected in a few days. The jump in cost is said to be due to the increasing demand for gasoline as the summer draws near. Kerosene oil is still at the figure set about two weeks ago—13 cents.

MACDONALD WAS NOT CONDEMNED

Explanation Has Been Made in the House of Commons, of the Situation.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.) London, April 2.—The case of the late Maj. Gen. Sir Hector Macdonald, who committed suicide in a Paris hotel while charges of immorality were pending against him, was brought up in parliament. The question was asked why the statement of Sir J. West Ridgeway to the Ceylon legislative council in regard to the court martial was published in England.

Colonial Secretary Chamberlain replied that the proceedings of the legislative council were public. Accordingly it was open to anyone to telegraph the question of the governor in regard to the summoning of a court martial and the reply of the government authorizing him to do so, which apparently had been done. Mr. Chamberlain added:

"There was no implied condemnation of Maj. Gen. Macdonald in the statement of Gov. Ridgeway. It was a serious charge which had been made, but he expressed the hope which, I am sure, was shared at that time by everybody, that the charge would be disproved."

Three thousand Turkish troops on March 30 defeated the Albanian forces of several thousands. On both sides the loss was heavy, and the sultan is sending troops to protect the disturbed district.

MACEDONIAN WAR HAS NOW BEGUN

From Now on the Situation Is Expected to Increase in Gravity.

Vienna, April 2.—The rebellion in Macedonia is considered here to have begun, and the situation is expected to become worse. The Albanian movement is regarded as especially dangerous because the sultan will hardly dare to suppress it, being surrounded by Albanian guards at the Yildiz Kiosk. It is therefore thought that the reform plan will remain a dead letter in old Serbia. It is estimated that there are 20,000 Albanians under arms, and a general rising would be extremely serious. It is stated that the king of Greece has abandoned his intended visit to the Danish court at Copenhagen on account of the threatening situation in the Balkans.

GREENVILLE HAS A BAD SCORE

New Weakness in Levee Causes Un easiness in the City Which Has Once Been Flooded.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.) Greenville, Miss., April 2.—Uneasiness has been expressed because of a weakness of the levee at Riverton, four miles below Rosedale, the same point which about ten days ago caused a panic in Rosedale and Beulah. A large force of men and materials was rushed to the point and work kept up all last night and today. Walter Sellers, attorney for the levee board, telegraphed today that the trouble was under control. No other point of the line is giving any anxiety.

Greenville is making a creditable endeavor to recover its equilibrium and to adapt itself to the new element by which "land lubbers" are suddenly forced to live. Rubber boots are used by those who are surrounded by shallow water and skiffs by those who dwell in the deep. Serious losses have been sustained by the city and property owners and great inconvenience is experienced by all. However, there is no actual suffering in the city.

BICYCLE THIEVES VISITED THE CITY

Secured Two Wheels from C. H. Burgess, on Monday Last, and Failed to Return.

C. H. Burgess who conducts a bicycle store at 58 South Main street would like to know the whereabouts of two men who called at his place Monday afternoon and rented two bicycles for a few hours, and have not yet returned. Monday morning two men, one about forty-five years old and the other about thirty, arrived in the city and went to the Myers house where they registered as I. F. Kelsey and F. Balcolm of Chicago. They stated to the clerk that they intended to spend several days in town and would like a room which was assigned to them. After dinner they inquired for a bicycle store and were directed to Mr. Burgess.

Rented Wheels
They called at Burgess's shop and told him they were here collecting for a Chicago firm and as they had a good deal traveling about to do wished to rent two bicycles until six o'clock. Mr. Burgess fitted them out with two good wheels and they started out with them to do their collecting. That was the last Burgess saw of them or his wheels. When they did not return at six o'clock Burgess did not think much of it, but when it got to be eight o'clock he became worried and went to the Myers house to look them up. There he found out they had not been back to the hotel and had not settled their bill for their dinner.

Police Searching
The police were at once notified of the affair and went on a search for the men and the wheels but were not successful in finding them. It is the opinion of the police that the men were professional bicycle thieves and took this means of securing them. The wheels were second-hand ones so Mr. Burgess is not a heavy loser by the deal.

Settled With the Company: The case of August Boehm against the C. & N. W. Ry. has been settled by the company paying Boehm $1,500. Mrs. Boehm was killed last fall at the Second street crossing by a North-Western passenger train. Edward H. Ryan was the plaintiff's attorney.

In the second trial of Shamrock III at Greenock a bad defeat for Shamrock I resulted.

SERMONS HELP MANY HEARERS

THOSE DELIVERED BY REV. BIEDERWOLF, VERY INTERESTING.

SPECIAL SERVICES HELD TODAY

Large Audiences Attend Each Meeting, and Listen Attentively to the Evangelist.

Today is one of the milestones to mark the progress of the Biederwolf services. At nearly all hours services have been in progress, and all have drawn good audiences. The "Mid-Week Sabbath" was first observed this morning by a sunrise rally at the Presbyterian church, after which came prayer in the homes, a service at the Presbyterian church led by the pastors, and another led by Rev. Biederwolf, a business men's noon service at Court Street M. E. church, and a woman's service in the same edifice and a special men's service.

The meetings yet to come are a children's meeting at the First M. E. church at 1:15 and a closing service at the Congregational church at 7:15. At the last another record-breaking attendance is expected.

Next Men's Meeting
Next of the special days on the calendar comes Sunday when another men's service will be held. Last Sunday a large audience, passing the thousand mark, was present, but it is expected that even more men will take the opportunity of hearing the address next Sunday.

Rev. Biederwolf's address at the sunrise rally this morning follows in part:

Abraham called the name of that place, "Jehovah-Jireh" which means "The Lord will provide and there is no place where blessing is so to be found as in the place of sacrifice. When Mahmoud, the conqueror of India, came to the temple, he found before it a costly idol, 15 feet high facing the entrance. He ordered the image to be destroyed but the Brahmins threw themselves before him and besought him to spare their God offering him enormous sums of money if he would do it. He hesitated a moment—the offer was tempting, but he declared at last that he would rather be known as a breaker, than the seller of idols, and he struck it with his mace and the image which was hollow, burst at his feet and he poured at his feet a large quantity of the most costly diamonds and jewels in value far beyond the offered ransom. It is always so beloved, and if you will thus surrender yourself to God and lay your dearest idol of your heart upon his altar, you will hear Him say "Because thou has done this thing in blessing, I will bless thee" and that will be the hour when the Tree of Life will burst into flower, and rain at your feet a glorious dower of something grander than ever you knew."

The very windows of heaven opened to pour at faithful Abraham's feet the richest blessing of God. He got the life of his son whom he loved. I have often wondered what they said as they walked back from that altar and then sometimes I think their hearts must have been too full to speak. Mother you are longing that your child might know God. Have you bound him on the altar? Are you willing that your daughter should go as a missionary to the dark depths of heathen Africa? If death should take your child tomorrow, would you be satisfied with Jesus? Give the child to Him first and say "Thy will be done," and prove God that he will never take him from you. Even death cannot separate you then.

But Abraham got something else; he was allowed to lift up his eyes and in a glorious vision he saw the world unfold itself as the centuries rolled before him and the righteous seed of his own son, Isaac carrying in itself the promise which was to be for the healing of the nations until at last afar off, he saw a mount upon which a cross was raised and on it was nailed one like unto his own son and Abraham knew who it was—he knew it was the Son of God, the seed of Isaac and he knew why he was there and the great man would bow his soul and say, "Jehovah, it is enough." Oh, beloved, have you never dreamed that its yours to have something of an experience like that, yours to know the mind of God and to have the things of God revealed unto you by His Spirit, for the spirit searcheth all things, yea the deep things of God?

Dr. Hodge speaking of the glory of the resurrection morning pictures a beautiful girl, born without the sense of sight or hearing, placed at the top of a high tower, full of force and life, and mind yet enveloped in darkness and silence, "touching the world only through the soles of her feet and the zephyrs which fan her cheek," and now comes one endowed with supernatural power and touching those deaf ears cries, "Daughter, hear, and laying a finger upon those sightless eyes, cries, "Daughter, see," and instantly there flows into her irradiated consciousness all the myriad sights and sounds of earth and sea and sky, and she is brought face to face with a thousand worlds all new. But, Oh, beloved, it is not necessary for the resurrection morning to come to bring you and me something of an experience like that, but into the life, fully surrendered to God, will be poured out according to promise, all the fullness of God Himself bringing with it an undreamed of beauty and treasure which to the life that is self-contained must be forever hid.

Listen! Can you not hear the voice of God calling, calling for you asking you to lay your best upon the altar?—Your dear ones whom—d is waiting to give you with fullness of life forever; your own life—losing it that you might find it, "boldly casting it forth that back again receiving, you might know it in its endless worth," binding my life upon the altar that the fire might come down and burn out of it all there is of myself that He might pour into it all filled with the fullness of God. Oh, the power and the beauty of a God-filled life, a God controlled life there is of himself—that I might be a life that is moulded by the thought of God, and moved only by the will of God.

It is said that Ole Bull was once making his way through one of the great American forests and he came upon a hut in which a hermit dwelt. He had left his city home because disappointed in business and had been living alone for years, his only companion being his old violin, upon which he could play a few homely pieces. Ole Bull stopped in the hut over night and in the shade of the fire light to entertain his guest, the old hermit took down his violin and played the simple pieces with which he had whiled away his long hours of loneliness. When he had finished the great musician asked him if he thought he could play; the reply was "I hardly think it possible, it took me a good many years to learn, and yet," said he, "you might try," and so the great violinist took the instrument and drew the bow across the strings and instantly the room was filled with harmony. He played America and Home Sweet Home, until the old hermit sobbed like a child and then putting the instrument back again in its place the old hermit was made to understand that he was in the presence of the greatest violinist of his day. It was the same violin, but Oh, what a difference when in the hands of the master. Oh these poor lives of ours, how different they would be if we would only put ourselves into the hands of God and let Him have His way with us: Oh, the beauty, the power, the sweet experience of a life like that!

BASE BALL HAS ALREADY BEGUN

Many Teams Will Be Formed, Among Them One by the Valentine School.

With the unmistakable advent of spring the baseball fever is beginning to take possession of a large proportion of the small boys and young men of the city. Within the next four weeks, probably a dozen teams will be in the field, of greater or less ability. Every corner lot will be occupied on Saturdays and after school at night by a throng of juveniles, while the baseball park will be utilized by the older players.

Of the older players at least two teams have already begun practice. One of them is the high school aggregation. A squad of nearly two teams has daily, since the beginning of the week, practiced at the ball park. It has not yet been decided whether it will be possible for them to put a team in the field this spring, but while the question is still in abeyance, they are taking advantage of every day that is offered them for practice.

The other team, which is also practicing at the ball park, is composed of students in the Valentine School of Telegraphy. They have elected Bert Johnson to serve as their captain, and they are meeting almost daily on the diamond to get in shape. They hope to be able to put a formidable team in opposition to some of the other local nines this spring. It is said there is a quantity of good material in the school which can be utilized in the direction of the athletics.

MILITARY BALL BY THE CADETS

April 14 is the Date Which Has Been Set by the Christ Church Soldier Boys.

Invitations to the number of five hundred have this week been issued for the military ball of the Christ Church Cadets, to be held on Tuesday, April 14. Unsurprising pains are being taken by the members of the organization to make the dance notable in their history. The utmost enthusiasm is being exhibited by each of the cadets, and it will be through no fault of theirs if the affair is not an exemplified success. The company, in full force, will appear in uniform to give the desired military air to the occasion.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Thursday, April 2.—F. W. Seward, assistant secretary of state, has written a letter in which he states that bonds are not now required from citizens applying for passports in those states which have furnished their complement of militia to serve nine months and he accordingly furnishes passports for Wisconsin without requiring bonds, signifying that this state has furnished its entire complement.

Slavery dies by its own hands; its worst enemies are its greatest friends. Gov. Wise hurt it more than John Brown; Preston Brooks dealt it more fatal blows than Charles Sumner; Floyd knocked away a more powerful prop than Wendell Phillips; and Jefferson Davis had wounded it more mortally than Garrison. The arch-traitor is always taken in his own trap; the father of lies always tells too many; the original murdered ends in suicide. The highways of history

TOBACCO MEN HARD AT WORK

PURCHASES BEING HASTENED BY THE WEATHER.

MARKET STILL KEEPS GOOD

Farmers Are in a Hurry to Clear Their Sheds and Do Spring Plowing.

There have been no developments of a startling character in the tobacco market of this section during the last week. The packers are all hustling to get their packing out of the way and are taking belated crops as fast as they can be delivered—some little riding is being done since the roads have become more settled and the dealers show an inclination to add to their holdings of the last years crop. The approach of spring and the anxiety of the farmers to dispose of their crops before they take up the season's work has caused them to make some concessions in prices.

Increased Acreage
In regard to the amount of the tobacco which will be planted this year, the Wisconsin Reporter has the following:

The flood of correspondence that has reached this office the past few weeks relating to the growing of tobacco in new sections of the state, leads to the conclusion that there will be a very material increase of acreage the coming season and much of it, too, in territory that heretofore has not undergone the experimental stages of raising tobacco. The infection to become tobacco growers is spreading like the grip and Lake Superior alone will be the northern limit, unless its course is soon run. Nothing save an early frost or a poor crop will stay the expansion of tobacco growing sections of our state. The history of 1885 seems likely to repeat itself. That year, tobacco was grown in more sections than ever before, but a single poor crop and bad handling by inexperienced growers put an end to the expansion, returning the area to its normal location in a few countries in the southern portion of the state from which it has gradually extended.

New York City Market.
All types are being called for, and, of course, the scarcer, the greater demand for it. Filler and binder stock have a steady call and the briskness with which the holdings of last year's Pennsylvania crop in the hands of farmers and local packers have been extended, speaks volumes for its consumption. But the problem of the market is the domestic wrapper supply. The New England Havana seed does not seem to fill the bill, this season as it has done in previous seasons at this time, and the new Florida is not quite marketable as yet, although here and there it has of necessity been forced to fill out. The main reliance, therefore, is on the Sumatra, of which there is a goodly supply of serviceable leaf on hand, not only of the old stock, but will be soon also of the new importations, which to judge from the two inscriptions held, promise a good leaf at a reasonable price. Our importers have bought quite heavily of the new leaf, as they had the market almost to themselves, the competition of the A. C. C. remaining so far, dormant.

Connecticut Valley
There is not much doing in the tobacco trade in this part of the country and only occasional sales are reported, and the reports are invariably accompanied by the growers' statement that the leaf was worth more money than they received for it. But the crops being sold now are simply remnants, for the greater portion of the 1902 yield has already been absorbed, the only important lots remaining unsold being in the hands of growers who are doing their own assorting and who can afford to wait until the price reaches what they consider an adequate figure. The principal and about the only topic of interest is the formation of the proposed corporation for farmers to handle and sell tobacco for farmers. As was announced, the plan will not be put in operation unless at least 5,000 acres are pledged to the scheme. So far, about 3,000 acres have been signed, the average holdings of each signer being about three acres, and this would indicate that the larger growers are not going into the plan to any considerable extent. It is claimed, however, that they will join the movement as soon as some definite plan is agreed upon, provided the advantages will be equal to all concerned.

New York
The buying of the new tobacco crop here continues quite lively, although farmers complain that the season is not as brisk as in former years. But a large amount of leaf has changed hands at prices ranging from three to six cents in the bundle, with an advance of about two cents for assorted goods. The roads are in good condition and deliveries are plentiful, all the warehouses being busy and expecting to remain so until the middle of April. Concerning the character of the new crop there is little news except from those who have bought freely. They declare the crop is better than the 1901 yield. Those who are still searching for tobacco are naturally more reticent and make no comments on the quality of the leaf.—N. S. Tobacco Journal.

Baldwinsville
A considerable amount of tobacco has been received here during the past few days. Gleske & Nieman of Baltimore have been receiving and have taken in a large number of crops which have been shipped as soon as assorted. M. Tobin is reported as having made several purchases for his firm, M. Rosenthal & Co. of Lancaster, Pa., among them Fred Schlamon of Clay, 8 cases at 7 cents, and Butler Bros., 16 cases at 7 cents. Barnham & Reynolds of Corning are still in the field and have made a few purchases. A. Heinke, who has been in Ohio making purchases for his firm, returned at home at noon today.—Gazette.

Lancaster, Pa.
The noteworthy feature in the tobacco trade during the past week was the extended dullness which prevailed in all branches of the business—the packing of the last years crop alone excepted, which is as lively as at any time during the past three months.

Cincinnati
The cigar leaf market is holding up pretty well this week. There seems to be a scarcity of good domestic wrappers and binders, and prices on these goods are high. The demand for Havana is comparatively light, the domestic fillers being the best sellers at present. Things are also stirring up in the country, where the new crop still controls a fabulous price.

The shade-grown Sumatra that was grown by Messrs. Baines and Schnell and S. B. Heddles, and his son, Charles Heddles, last summer, has passed through the forced sweat in fine shape.

It has been sized into eight lengths and is now being sorted to colors. Each length will be assorted into four colors as follows, extra light, light, dark and extra dark. This makes thirty-two grades, each of the eight lengths being divided into four colors.

After the colors have been divided they are "booked." This is done by spreading a leaf flat and another placed over it until twelve or fifteen leaves are placed one above the other like the leaves of a book. The stem end of the book is tied with seaweed as they are packed in shoe boxes and are ready for shipment.

Coming Attractions

Tolstol's masterpiece, "Resurrection," the original American production of which will be given at Myers Grand on April 4, has taken the literary and reading world by storm. It is intensely interesting, both as a story and as a study of the human emotions, and is just termed an epic in prose on the conscience of man. It is one of the most powerful studies of men and women ever written. "Resurrection" is such a faithful picture of the horror of prison life in Russia and Siberia that its publication was forbidden by the czar. When the novel was translated into French many chapters were cut out, as it was feared their publication would offend the ruler of all the Russias. The dramatization to be presented here is by Mr. Chas. W. Chase, and is from the original Russian manuscript. The story is told in its entirety and with all its vivid simplicity and strength.

A Layman's Lenten Sermon.

Thirty-second day of lent, St. Luke XII 3v.—Tell you nay, but except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish.

Unless ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish. How true is that sentence. Unless ye come unto God, unless ye give unto him that which lies in your inmost soul ye shall perish.

How many of us have little sins which do not amount to much in themselves, but which kept secretly in our souls are magnified and grow into great faults by increasing lies which are told to cover small deceit in God we have a place where we can unburden ourselves. To whom we can tell our troubles our faults and be sure that we will have a ready listener and one who will guide and comfort us.

Unless ye repent ye will be destroyed likewise.

How can we tell whether we have repented or not unless we tell the Almighty our troubles? How can we know whether we are forgiven our sins unless we first confess them to that great judge—God.

To you who are burdened with care and trouble no greater comfort can be obtained than by lifting up your soul to your heavenly father and telling him your troubles. He will comfort you he will give you advice and your mind at rest and your soul at peace with yourself you can continue to follow the teachings of Christ confident in the belief that if you have truly repented of your sins and are living the righteous life God would have you, you are forgiven.

Christ came upon this earth to teach us poor sinners how we could secure life everlasting. He gave his commands to his disciples to spread the glad tidings throughout the world and in but few parts is it not known. Brave men and women are today facing every danger to teach the poor heathen that Christ came upon this earth to save sinners and that to inherit the Kingdom of Heaven they must turn from pagan gods and worship one God, one Father.

AN ANCIENT SINNER.

Archbishop Cranmer, though he was burned at stake during Bloody Mary's reign, and has had his martyrdom celebrated in that cheerful Foxe's book, which has been the spiritual pabulum of many a pious soul, yet won not a halo of glory and a place among the Black Letter Saints in the calendar. If his end alone had been taken into consideration he would have won the martyr's crown, for nothing in life became him like the leaving of it. As a whole, his life was not ignoble. He was a learned theologian, and helped forward greatly the reformation but was better fitted to compile liturgies, articles and homilies than to settle matters contested at court. The several promotions he received through Henry VIII were not sought nor always willingly accepted. His private expressed opinion that home ecclesiastical courts were competent to divorce the king and queen Catherine without further jurisdiction when reported to Henry led him to declare with a round oath, "This man, I trow, has got the right sow by the ear." This was the tide in Cranmer's life, which led him out of obscurity to be a king's tool. He assisted Henry VIII in securing three several divorces, dissolving marriages he had but a short time before sanctioned, though not willingly. He was too fearful of a king's displeasure to resist the royal commands, though they be degrading, and too vacillating when facing great responsibilities to have won the respect of posterity. After serving two kings and ministering to them in their last hours, weakly yielding to the last wish of Edward VI., he was convicted of treason and heresy, degraded from office, and duped into writing recantation after recantation. Yet he repented of these, though his adherence to them might have saved his life. The old man exposing steadfastly to the flame, his offending hand. "The unworthy hand," which wrote the lying words, is a pathetic figure.

THE POSTOFFICE IS NEEDING MORE MEN

Examination for Positions Will Be Held in May, to Fill the Places.

The United States Civil Service commission announces that on May 6, 1903, an examination will be held for the positions of clerk and carrier in the post office service in this city.

Good Places
This examination offers an excellent opportunity for entering the federal service to bright, energetic young persons who are not afraid of hard work, and as previous examinations have failed in a sufficient number of eligibles, the commission urges all persons who are qualified, and who may desire to enter the post office service, to apply for and take this examination. It may be stated that there is a wider field for advancement upon merit in the federal service than in many private employments. While the salary in the post office service is usually $500 or $600 per annum at the start, this amount compares favorably with the compensation of a beginner in private employment.

The Examination
This examination will be held in order to give all persons who desire to apply an opportunity to be examined for positions in this office. It is intended hereafter in case no eligibles result from the clerk-carrier examinations, to fill vacancies in this office by selections from any register of the civil service commission which may have been established as the result of a first or second grade examination, selections being made of persons who are residents of this city or this part of the state, and not more than one clerk-carrier examination will be held during each year unless eligibles cannot be secured from the other registers. This notice is given in order that the persons who may desire to become eligible for positions in this office may file their applications and enter this examination.

The Questions
The nature of the examination is a test of practical, general intelligence and of adaptability in post office work. The examination will consist of the subjects mentioned below, which will be weighted as follows: Spelling, 10; arithmetic, 20; letter-writing, 20; penmanship, 20; copying from plain copy, 10; United States geography, 10; reading addresses, 10.

It will be noted that the weights of the examination have been changed since form 117, "Instruction to Applicants," was issued. Age limit, all positions, 18 to 45 years. From the eligibles resulting from this examination it is expected that certification will be made to existing and future vacancies. All applicants, male and female, must have the medical certificate in Form 101 executed as in the form. Male applicants must be at least 5 feet 4 inches in height, exclusive of boots or shoes, and weight not less than 125 pounds in ordinary clothing, without overcoat or hat.

Open to All
This examination is open to all citizens of the United States who comply with the requirements without regard whether they have been examined during the past year. Competitors will be rated without regard to any consideration other than the qualifications shown in their examination papers, and eligibles will be certified strictly in accordance with the civil service law and rules.

The Blanks
For application blank (Form 101), full instructions, specimen examination questions, and information relative to the duties and salaries of the different positions, and the location of the examination room, application should be made to the secretary of the board of examiners at the post office.

No application will be accepted for this examination unless filed with the undersigned prior to the hour of closing business April 18, 1903.

A. T. KEMMETT,
Secretary Postal Board

LEGAL POINTS FOR LAYMEN

Recent Decisions That Affect Many Cases of Public Interest.

Contracts With Cities—Eight Hour Law

Plaintiff entered into a contract with the city of Cleveland to construct a sewer. In obedience to a statute of the state of Ohio, requiring the insertion of a stipulation in all contracts for public works, the contract provided that laborers should not be required or permitted to work over eight hours a day, with a penalty upon the contractor for each day's work in excess of eight hours. Plaintiff violated this provision of his contract, and a considerable sum was claimed to have been forfeited, for which he brought suit against the city. Held, that he could recover. The court took the view that the statute was void in its invasion and violation of the constitutional freedom of contract. The eight hour clause, being in the contract by virtue of the statute rather than by agreement of the parties, must fall within the statute. 65 Northwestern Rep. 835.

Commencement of Term of Imprisonment.

A United States marshal surrendered a prisoner convicted of assault with intent to kill and whom he was conducting to the penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, to another United States marshal, by whom he was detained for trial for robbery of the mail. His first sentence was for five years. For his second offense he was sentenced for life in the United States penitentiary at Columbus. This sentence was afterwards reduced to five years by the president. Upon his release from Columbus he was taken to Fort Leavenworth, to serve his original five years. On habeas corpus proceedings it was held that the prisoners first sentence began to run at the time the marshal should have performed his duty and committed to the proper custody, and that in contemplation of the law, he has been serving out his first sentence and is entitled to the allowance for good behavior. 118 Federal Rep., 479.

Trial—Coercion of Jury

Defendant was convicted of murder. After the submission of the case to the jury, the jurors were kept together for 89 hours, without beds, coats, or other usual facilities for obtaining sleep. They were given food, fire and reasonable opportunity for exercise. Five jurors, who until the last had voted acquittal, subsequently testified that the verdict was deliberate and voluntary, and not the result of fatigue or exhaustion. Held, that the verdict should not be disturbed. The length of time that a jury shall be kept together in consultation is a matter over which the trial court has large discretionary power. 92 Northwestern Rep. (Nebraska) 751.

LOTS OF WORK ON NEW TRAIN

Endless Details To Be Looked After in Equipping Eight Trains for Services.

"People who believe that when the manager of a great railway system decides to place a new train in service, all he has to do is to push a few buttons, give an order or two to get out some surplus equipment, and the thing is done, would be undeceived in short order if they could spend a few days in this building," remarked a railway official recently.

It was announced one Sunday morning that a large western road would put on a new train between St. Paul and the coast. The order for the train was not signed by the general manager until late Saturday evening, which left only a week to prepare for the service.

Every department of the general management of the road was put to work on the details of the new train service. Hundreds of employees in St. Paul and scattered between St. Paul and the coast were set to work. The fifty-two traveling and immigration agents had to be supplied with literature advertising the new train, for business for the new service would depend largely upon the work of the traveling agents.

Eight New Trains.
There will be eight fully equipped trains instead of one. St. Paul and Seattle are 2,000 miles apart, and it takes a train about sixty hours to run that distance. But a train has to start from St. Paul at the same hour every day, so by the time the first train reaches the coast there will be two other trains just like it following a day apart. A train must start from Seattle every day, and when the first train from the coast reaches St. Paul there will be two other trains a day apart between here and Seattle. That means that there will be six trains in motion all the time. But a train cannot be started back on the 2,000-mile journey as soon as it reaches one end of the line so there is one full train at each end of the line all the time, being overlooked by car inspectors, and cleaned by the car cleaners. All this week the company has been taking extra care toward the coast, attaching them to the regular trains or sending them forward as extras, to have enough equipment at Seattle for the eastbound trains.

Work For More Men
The eight new trains mean that as many men will be promoted to the new passenger runs and a full corps of brakemen and these men are hustling to have their new uniforms ready for the first trains. In the general superintendent's office clerks are preparing the skeleton on the new time cards; and all along the line from St. Paul to the coast each division superintendent is preparing the details covering the time card for his division.

The superintendent of motive power has been informed that he will be required to supply eight of the big passenger engines to haul the trains and new engineers and firemen will have to be promoted for the new passenger trains.

The superintendent of the dining and sleeping cars has been arranging for the eight new palace sleepers, new tourist sleepers and new dining cars. Messages and orders have been sent to the commissary stores at points along the line to increase their stocks so as to be able to provision the new trains. It takes two chefs for each dining car and three waiters, so there will be sixteen chefs and twenty-four uniformed waiters to appoint.

Express and Mail
Even the express companies did not escape the general hustle to get the new trains ready. The express company had to provide eight express safes and a corps of express messengers.

There will be extra mail service but the railway has only to supply the equipment. Uncle Sam will furnish the men.

Must Keep Time
The keynote of the service, however, is contained in the message which one of the company's officials sent to another yesterday. This was his message:

"No excuse will be accepted. I know the new schedule is fast, but the trains must make the time."—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Corporations—Officers and Stockholders.

Plaintiff made a contract with the defendants, who were stockholders in a corporation, whereby he agreed to buy part of their stock and to use his influence in the corporation for the reelection of the existing board of directors, in consideration of their promise to procure for him a position as cashier of the corporation for five years, and to repurchase the stock at a fixed price, when he should cease to be cashier. After the wrongful discharge of the plaintiff, the defendants refused to pay back his stock, and he sued them on the contract. Held that the contract was not void as against public policy, and that he could recover. 78 N. Y. Supplement 361.

Divorce
Divorce laws are not designed, and must not be used for the purpose of enabling even preachers to "off with the old love and on with the new." Judge Ragan, in 42 Nebraska, 512. A husband who stays in the penitentiary for a term of years for shooting his wife is not guilty of wilful, continued, and obstinate desertion. Wolf vs. Wolf, 38 New Jersey Equity Rep., 126.

PLATFORM

The following resolution adopted at the convention when the citizens ticket was indorsed is the platform of the campaign.

Resolved, that it is the sense of this convention, that the mayor and common council and the board of education of this city, should in every particular, be governed by the provisions of the charter under which the city is organized; and we demand that in all matters the requirements of the charter be strictly observed.

Resolved, that strict economy in the administration of our city affairs is especially desired, and we demand of all city officials that business principles be observed, and a better system of bookkeeping and accounting adopted.

OVERCONFIDENCE

Many a good cause has been defeated by overconfidence. Taxpayers and citizens who are interested in the reform movement must keep in mind the fact that the real work of the campaign is yet to be done.

The citizens ticket presents a list of names that are unexceptionable. The ticket has received a strong indorsement in the primaries, but it is not yet elected, and no ticket, however good, ever elects itself.

Organized opposition has developed, under guise of reform, an effort will be made to defeat the citizens movement. The Municipal League has accomplished good work in arousing public sentiment, and crystallizing this sentiment, in organized effort, but the League must understand that it is competing with a political foe.

The organization can not fold its hands in complacency, flattered by the belief that the ticket presented will be elected without effort. The voters who believe in good government must be impressed with the fact that action is necessary to success.

The city has never approached an election of so much importance. Defeat of the movement means more than the defeat of a political party. It means the abandonment of practical reform not only for this year, but for years to come.

The republican party as an organization, has united with the better element of democracy in an effort to place citizenship above partisanship, in the interests of good government. Party pride has been sacrificed to the general good, and if the movement wins, it means much for the city.

The responsibility for success or failure is now with the people, and it is a grave responsibility. It can not be transferred because it is of the individual sort. One vote counts for just as much as another, and votes are the only thing now that will count.

Good citizenship means more than a declaration of principles. It means more than organization to enforce these principles. It means definite positive action, and the arena where questions will be settled is at the polls next Tuesday.

Every taxpayer owes it to himself to vote for what he knows to be his best interests. The way has been made easy to do this. All party restraint has been removed and every man who has the best interests of the city at heart, is invited to stand on the same platform. But standing on the platform will not elect the ticket. That means untold work if the movement is defeated it will be because of neglect inspired by overconfidence.

MORE JUDGES NEEDED

It is gratifying to note that the proposition to amend the constitution for the purpose of increasing the number of supreme court justices from five to seven is meeting with most unanimous approval. With but one or two exceptions the newspapers of the state have given their support to the proposed amendment.

The constitutional amendment providing for an increase of judges, on the supreme bench, should have the support of every intelligent voter.

If the Recorder knows of citizens more implicated, and practices reform, let them know the paper is ready to help.

who have had business with the court it has been a matter of surprise that the movement for more judges was not started some years ago.

The increase in litigation in this state has been so great that in recent years the court has been obliged to go twice as much work as other supreme courts with a like number of judges, and when, as has happened several times, the court has been crippled by the illness of one of the judges, its work has been greatly delayed. So heavy has been the burden that it frequently has been forced to delay decisions in important cases because of lack of time to give them the study their importance has demanded. Two legislatures have shown their appreciation of the need of more judges by passing the proposed amendment without opposition.

There is no question about the need of more judges, and the Sentinel believes the situation to be so well understood that the adoption of the amendment is practically assured. Its defeat would be a serious blunder and the newspapers, attorneys and others who are interested, should continue their efforts to make its adoption certain.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

There appears to be but little opposition to the constitutional amendment to be voted on next Tuesday. The people are disposed to supply all of the judges necessary to conduct the business of the highest tribunal in the state. The business of the court has accumulated to such an extent that five men are unable to dispose of it. As a matter of business and justice, the court should be enlarged.

THE PRIMARY LAW

The status of the primary law in the legislature indicates that nothing will be done with the measure at the present session. The assembly refuses to concur in the senate amendment which provided for a referendum clause, and the senate declines to remove the clause. The result will probably be a conference committee, composed of three members from each house and these six men are not likely to agree.

The responsibility for the failure of this much discussed measure will be charged to both houses. The administration men will claim that the senate defeated the measure to spite the governor, while the conservative element will claim that if the governor was sincere in his statements, that he should have been satisfied with the senate amendment.

Out of all this turmoil, one prominent feature is easily recognized, namely that harmony is neither cultivated nor desired. It is unfortunate for the party that these conditions exist and yet there are some men with whom it is impossible to harmonize, and Wisconsin unfortunately has in its chief executive, a man of this class.

More than party warfare is involved in this contest. The reputation and business interests of the state are at stake. If the republican party yields to the will of a dictator and radical reforms of populist tendency are forced upon the people, the state is the sufferer.

The state is fortunate in having a level-headed senate, composed of a majority who care more for public interests than personal popularity. No amount of threats or bullying has swerved these men from their purpose. They have back of them the stolid conservative constituency of the state, and this constituency will be in evidence long after fads and fadisms are forgotten.

The Milwaukee Journal is the concentration of wisdom. The paper bemoans the fate of Senator Whitehead. He would have been dead long ago if the Journal could have put him out of commission. From the curfew bell ordinance to the present time, the paper has never lost an opportunity to berate him. The Journal has two distinctive missions. One to sell papers, the other to whack over the head any man who is in the ascendancy. Senator Whitehead has commanded ample attention, but he will survive.

Brains equipment is not required to ask questions any more than it is required to organize a party of reformers out of material that don't know the meaning of the word reform.

The democratic candidate for Mayor is running on a reform platform. He is doing the stunt largely by himself, but he is running just the same. The spectacle is inspiring.

Philadelphia is having a spirited discussion over the Sunday newspaper. An effort is being made to suppress it but the court decides that it is a necessity.

The reform element of the democratic party is now ready to give lessons on reform. The instructions may be a little crude through lack of experience.

The constitutional amendment providing for an increase of judges, on the supreme bench, should have the support of every intelligent voter.

If the Recorder knows of citizens more implicated, and practices reform, let them know the paper is ready to help.

who have had business with the court it has been a matter of surprise that the movement for more judges was not started some years ago.

DEADLOCK RESULTS
OVER PRIMARY BILL

Wisconsin Senate Stands Pat on Its Amendments and the Measure Seems Doomed to Defeat.

Madison, Wis., April 2.—Both branches of the Wisconsin legislature locked arms over the primary election measure. The probable outcome seems to be the ultimate killing of the bill by "stalemate" in the senate.

The assembly passed the bill as the governor directed. The senate amended the bill to make it apply to the election of city and county officers and to compel the submission of the measure to the people for approval at the election of 1904. The assembly refused to concur and the senate "stood pat," resolving formally to adhere to its position.

The senate is divided 19 to 14 against the bill.

MORE BUSINESS, LESS POLITICS

MUNICIPAL LEAGUE HAS NAMED GOOD MEN.

ABOUT OUR CITY GOVERNMENT

Tax Payers Should Have the Knowledge of How City Money Is Expended.

If the mayor and aldermen to be chosen next Tuesday, are not in favor of carrying into effect the general principles of the platform adopted by the republican city convention, it were better that no election should be held. The old crowd might as well be continued. The candidates upon the citizens' ticket stand squarely on the platform. For lower taxation if lower taxes are possible and for publicity to keep the tax payers informed as to where their money goes.

Scores and hundreds of taxpayers have been annoyed and disgusted over the increase of their taxes without the slightest sign or explanation of cause, interior. The state of affairs may pass for a joke with some people, but with others it has become a very serious matter. The smaller taxpayers are vitally concerned and people with money to invest in a city like ours, are quick to discern any recklessness or extravagance in the management of city affairs.

As to snuffing off all street work to save taxes, of course the idea is campaign rot and nonsense. But the citizens' movement doesn't intend that city officials shall use street work for a cloak to cover the spending of money for the benefit of themselves or of their favorite contractors. A glance at the democratic ticket shows plain enough some things that the league has already accomplished, and it also shows who represent the outgoing dynasty. If the voters want the same old business resumed at the old stand on a bigger scale than ever with its extravagance and extortionate taxation, vote the democratic ticket and say nothing.

Actions speak louder than words, and eloquent confession of interest in behalf of honest government and a more wide sweeping punishment of criminals comes too late to deceive anybody.

The Recorder imagines it speaks for the people, but the people deny the voice of the leader. Who is it that the Recorder is afraid will escape?

Also nice reformers these are, trying to scare saloonkeepers with their silly yarns about shutting up the saloons. For the past forty years at least, there has never been a man of brains or business integrity who could run for alderman without being confronted with this same effort to prejudice saloonkeepers, and yet the saloons haven't been molested to any extent that anybody knows of.

When a saloonkeeper pays his license fee of $500, and the council accepts his money and gives him a license he can justly demand protection rather than revenue punishment. Jamesville has not had but one city government within the recollection of the oldest inhabitant, which attempted a contrary policy but that was long before the present license fee was established.

Every property owner regardless of private business ought to be interested in square city government, and if he pays $500 for the privilege of doing business, he ought at least to be interested in knowing where his money goes.

If forty-six saloonkeepers paid $23,000 into the city treasury during the past year besides their regular taxes how many of them can tell what became of a single cent of that money? This is quite a business proposition by itself, and it also concerns the general public in the same way. Don't everybody speak at once!

Fair-minded citizens know exactly what the Municipal League exactly out to accomplish. Its enemies are trying to make themselves believe it is shortly going out of business. The truth of the matter is that the league work has only begun and even defeat at the polls will make no difference with its aims and purposes. Over-confidence wins no election. Big promises amount to nothing. But there is going to be a chance next Tuesday to take a turn for better city government, and those who favor it must vote the citizens' ticket.

A victory for the democratic ticket means the endorsement of the misdeeds which the democratic candidate says he is in favor of punishing. If the voters believe this eleventh-hour spasm of virtue is more honest than the citizens' movement, they should vote as they think. Otherwise, they must vote for the candidates on the citizens' ticket.

Voters who favor business reform must mark each name on the citizens' ticket thus X.

Eckhart-Albrecht. William F. Albrecht, foreman at the Pearl Lumber factory, was today married at Leyden, at the home of the bride, to Miss Lizzie Eckhart. They will leave the city for a few days, returning the first of next week. Miss Eckhart has, for some time been employed in this city at the Railroad hotel.

Francis M. Dann of Footville yesterday received from the patent office at Washington papers which give him patent rights for the usual period of seventeen years on a gate of his own invention. The principle can be applied wherever the ordinary wide farm gate is now in use. The advantages claimed for it are ease of operation, cheapness, and the fact that it has a double swing, enabling it to be either raised or swung to the side. The gate is properly built with a box full of stones for counterbalancing weight and is suspended by a stirrup of wire. The weight does away with any feeling of weight in the gate, and the wire by which it is suspended gives free movement in any direction.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS.

On and after April first, 1935, no contract will be made for business localities. The rate for this class of advertising will be ten cents per line for each and every issue of either Daily or Weekly. The Gazette's policy for two years.

First. To improve the news columns of a paper. The State consideration of any newspaper, is the reader, and its value to the advertiser depends entirely upon its popularity with the reading public. Business localities frequently flood the advertising room the last hour before the paper goes to press, and news is sacrificed to meet the demands of this class of business.

Second. The Daily Gazette is rapidly extending its circulation throughout the county, giving the Jamesville merchant an opportunity to talk to the farmer as well as the city customer, six days in the week. This means faster machinery, and increased expense in producing a paper as well as increased value for advertising purposes.

The Gazette has also adopted what is known as the space rate for display advertising, and prices have been placed within the reach of all advertisers.

The paper has long enjoyed a liberal patronage from the merchants, and it is in position today to furnish better service than at any time in its history.

REID AND COMPANY MADE FINE DISPLAY

Their Millinery Opening Yesterday Attracted Wide Attention—Will be Continued.

For many years it has been the claim of Archie Reid & Co., to be the leaders in Jamesville in the way of millinery, and the annual spring opening of yesterday showed that this store is going to hold this place of prominence. From the opening hours yesterday until the store doors closed last evening there was a gathering of the fashionable people of Jamesville, and the expressions of satisfaction heard were sufficient evidence that Mrs. Nellie Walker, who is in charge of the millinery department, had even succeeded any previous effort on the part of the store, and the display of hats made equalled the best that the large stores of the metropolis showed. Mrs. Walker has been given every opportunity to study the latest styles. The crowds which swarmed into the store yesterday were shown the very latest, and in prices the store was there with the ever popular low prices, though the hats shown were the latest in style and of a quality that could not be excelled. The real opening was yesterday, but on account of the immense crowds it will be continued, and Archie Reid & Co. will make every day an opening day as far as millinery and fashionable goods are concerned.

It was on the last trip and the car was about three miles south of this city when the unwelcome passenger was dropped.

BRACE WILL GO TO MARQUETTE

HIGH SCHOOL INSTRUCTOR TO ASSUME IMPORTANT POSITION.

TAKES UP DUTIES NEXT YEAR

He is To Take Charge of School of Manual Training and Domestic Science.

George M. Brace, instructor in the manual training department of the high school, has decided to take up work at Marquette, Mich., next year, at the head of the manual training and domestic science courses. The offer was made to him some time ago, and about three weeks since he went to Marquette to look over the situation. During several days past he has been in Chicago purchasing manual training machinery and equipment to the amount of $10,000, for both the Marquette and Racine schools. The first of the week he wrote his acceptance of the Marquette offer. In doing so he turned down a proposition made him by the Racine school board to take charge of the work there.

Well-Thrained Building

"Even at the same salary as here," said Mr. Brace, this morning, "the position at Marquette would be attractive. A magnificent new building is to be devoted to the branches, which will be pursued for the first time, of manual training and domestic science. The building is three stories in height and cost $100,000. There will be two assistants in manual training and two in domestic science. The position will offer opportunities for advancement which, much as I regret leaving Jamesville, are not offered here. Neither would there be the same opening in Racine. The manual training school at Marquette will be opened next fall, at which time I will enter upon my duties. Before then it will be necessary for me to make two or three visits to Marquette during the spring to superintend the installation of the new machinery. I will also supervise the erection of the apparatus at Racine."

A Fine Opening

"At Marquette there are a number of very wealthy citizens, and the work of the manual training and domestic science department will be carried on upon a comparatively elaborate scale which would not be possible in a less moneyed community. Although throughout our correspondence I was unaware of the fact, Mr. Thompson, the Marquette superintendent, was my superintendent at Saginaw when I taught in that city. "During the three years I have been in Jamesville I have received many tokens of kindness, and it will be with decided regret that I will leave, but the opportunity now offered is one that could not very well be overlooked."

ODD FELLOWS WILL NOT OBSERVE DAY

Annual Celebration Will Be Omitted This Year—84th Anniversary on Sunday.

For the first time in many years there will be no public celebration in Jamesville of the anniversary of the founding of the order of Odd Fellows in this country. The eighty-fourth anniversary, which occurs Sunday, April 26th, will pass by unnoticed this year, except as the two lodges in this city may see fit to hold some private services. This decision was reached at a meeting held this week. One was the hesitancy of any elaborate preparations for a demonstration, and the other was the fact that the anniversary day is Sunday, which prevents a dance or similar festive function unless given on the day preceding or following.

The funeral of the late Michael Malone was held this morning from the Catholic church at Edgerton, the Rev. Father Harlan officiating. The interment was at the Edgerton cemetery.

William H. Copplin The remains of the late William H. Copplin arrived here last evening from Milwaukee and were taken to the home of his sister, Mrs. O. R. Wilkerson, 159 Locust street. The funeral was held from the home at 1 o'clock this afternoon, Rev. W. W. Warner of the First M. E. church officiating. The interment was at Oak Hill cemetery.

George Seegmiller and wife of Edgerton were the guests of F. P. Starr and family.

MADISON WILL SEE ROOSEVELT

TOMORROW A GALA DAY AT THE CAPITAL CITY.

MANY ARE TO GO FROM HERE

President Passes Through Jamesville Between Midnight and Four O'clock in the Morning.

Many people from this city will doubtless be attracted to Madison tomorrow in the hope of seeing and hearing the nation's executive. He will be in the Capital City for seven hours Friday morning, arriving at four o'clock, he will pass through Jamesville on his way to Madison. He is travelling in one of the finest specials ever sent out over the Pennsylvania road. The train will be switched to the North-Western line to bring the presidential party to Madison.

Madison Program

At Madison the program arranged by Mayor Groves and the committee in charge is as follows: At nine o'clock the president will be taken to the gymnasium, from his special car, where he will address 3,000 students and 1,000 members of the Southern Wisconsin Teachers' association. At ten o'clock he will speak in the assembly chamber to the members of both houses, and the federal, city, and county officials. At the east entrance of the capitol he will make an open air address at 10:30, fifteen minutes in length. He will then be driven to his train, which will leave for Milwaukee at 11:00 o'clock.

Jamesville Teachers There

A large number of teachers from Jamesville and surrounding towns will be in attendance at the sessions of the Southern Wisconsin Teachers' association, which meets Friday and Saturday. Their badges will give them admittance to the nine o'clock address in the university gymnasium, where the gallery will be reserved for them. Many who would not otherwise attend the meetings, and who will probably not remain throughout the two days, purpose attendance on Friday on account of the opportunity to hear the president.

A Long Trip

President Roosevelt will make the most extensive trip ever attempted by a president of the United States. It will be 14,000 miles in length, cover nearly twenty-two states, and occupy several weeks. In June the president will again visit this group of states when he will stop at several Illinois cities. The nearest to Jamesville is Rockford, where he will speak on June 3, unless he should later decide to accept the invitation of the M. W. A. Picnic association to address the annual Woodmen's picnic in this city June 4. On the latter date he now purposes to reach Lincoln, Ill.

Miss Gertrude Briggs and Kittie Conroy have been in Beloit for a week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fonda Burke.

NEW LABORATORY IS ESTABLISHED

H. Kirk White Company Has Taken the Old Tallman Laboratory.

With the exception of the Paris exposition display case of Tallman and Collins, the last trace of the firm which once ranked at the head of the perfumers of this land has been removed from the laboratory building formerly occupied by that company. The exhibit, which was awarded the only honors bestowed upon any similar display from the United States, is soon to be sent to the state university. Meanwhile preparations are being made to establish the business of H. Kirk White and company, in the laboratory building, with a view to employing a larger force than ever before.

At the first of March the White company moved their establishment from their former location on Wisconsin street to the old laboratory building, which had been vacated by the sale of the stock on hand to Wilson Brothers, the manufacturing chemists of Edgerton. As yet comparatively little progress has been made, aside from transferring the stock and apparatus from the former quarters, and carrying on the work of compounding patent medicines and toilet preparations for the wholesale trade on about the same scale as in the past.

To Increase Force

By the middle of next month Mr. White expects to employ about fifteen girls and several men, to meet the demands of his growing business. He will continue to compound all of the preparations personally, in order to protect the formulae, as well as to assure the purity and exactness of the various mixtures. The girls will be employed in pasting labels, wrapping and packaging the goods, and in making the wrappers and cartons.

Makes Many Preparations

At present a line of nearly fifty preparations are being turned out from the White laboratory. Of these eighteen are made under the name of H. Kirk White and Co. They include the well-known "Septicene" and kindred preparations, as well as a line of barbers' supplies. The remainder of the fifty are made for druggists and medical men, under their names and with the use of their formulas. Of these latter, many are patent medicines of wide sale and renown.

The preparation of these various medicines, extracts, washes, and tooth and talcum powder, is not carried on simultaneously, but in rotation, a week at a time often being devoted to a single article. During the spring blood tonics are the staple, in the all toilet goods, and in the winter cough medicines. Three men are on the road constantly, handling Mr. White's own preparations. The other compounding, which is done under contract, is secured personally by Mr. White.

Ask for Sunday Service: A movement is on foot to have the Sunday train between this city and Fond du Lac, which was operated by the North-Western last year up to the first of October, put back in service again this year. Petitions have been circulated in Janesville, Fort Atkinson, Jefferson, Johnson's Creek, Watertown, Juheau, Clyman, Oakfield, and Fond du Lac. The petitions ask that the train be started May 1 and continued through the summer.

London, April 2.—Charles Richman's successor as leading man of the Empire Stock company is to be an Englishman. Charles Frohman has secured Henry Ainley to fill that place. Mr. Ainley is one of the handsomest actors of the English stage. He is young and talented and his performance as Paolo in "Paola and Francesco" was the talk of London, not only on account of his acting, but because of his handsome presence and personal magnetism.
